About the AHF Top 50:

Affordable Housing Finance annually ranks the nation's top affordable housing developers. Although The AHF 50 captures only a small segment of the affordable housing being built each year, the survey provides a vivid snapshot of the industry. The only list of its kind, the AHF 50 reveals how many units are under development by the nation's leading national and regional developers. This year, 102 developers and owners with general partner interests participated in the annual survey.
